

HUSSEIN HACHEM
Chief Executive Officer

Hussein Hachem is the Chief Executive Officer at Aramex, one of the leading global logistics and transportation solutions providers, and the first company from the Arab world to go public on the NASDAQ stock exchange. The company is currently listed on the Dubai Financial Market (DFM: ARMX)

Hussein is a veteran of the industry with over 22 years of regional and international experience. His career at Aramex started with re-establishing operations in Kuwait after the 1991 Gulf War. He then became General Manager in Kuwait, Sri Lanka and the United Arab Emirates. In 2005, Hussein was promoted to Vice President - UAE and Oman, and later to CEO for Gulf Cooperation Council countries. For the last few years, he has served as the CEO - Middle East and Africa, managing the largest revenue generating markets for the company and playing an instrumental role in the growth and expansion of Aramex operations globally.

Hussein is a member of the Private Investors from Africa (PIA), a business coalition founded in 2001 that aims to leverage private sector experience in Africa to tangibly contribute to the continent's future, and of the Young Presidents Organization (YPO). He is also a Fellow of the Middle East Leadership Initiative, a flagship leadership program of The Aspen Institute.

Hussein earned a bachelor's degree from the American University of Beirut, and has undertaken several strategic management and executive education programs, including an Executive Development and Management program at the Wharton Business School, University of Pennsylvania, USA.