![Aramex delivery unlimited]

OTHMAN ALJEDA
Chief Executive Officer

Othman Aljeda was appointed as the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of Aramex in May 2021, where he is responsible for leading the successful development and execution of the company's long-term global business strategy.

Mr. Aljeda has over 27 years of international experience across logistics, supply chain management, and e-commerce sectors. Prior to his current role, he served as Aramex's Regional CEO in Europe, North America, and Asia. In addition to his regional CEO responsibilities, he also served as interim Chief Operating Officer for six months in 2020.

Mr. Aljeda joined Aramex in 1994 as a management trainee, and after completing the program, he was appointed as the General Manager of Aramex in Qatar. He was then promoted to General Manager of Aramex in Saudi Arabia where he led the company's entry into the Saudi market, and later became the Vice President of Aramex in Saudi Arabia, Upper Gulf, South Asia, and the Far East. In 2007, he was appointed as the Regional CEO for Aramex in Asia where he was responsible for setting up the Company's first office in the region, as well as spearheading Aramex's expansion plans in Hong Kong and Singapore. In 2015, he played a key role in leading Aramex's acquisition of Mail Call in Australia and of Fastway Couriers in Australia and New Zealand.

He is an active member of the company's Global Senior Management Team and sits on several boards related to logistics and transportation in South Asia and Asia-Pacific. He is also active with several universities that participate in programs for MBA students in the field of Logistics.

He holds a BA from Richmond University, United Kingdom and has completed a number of executive development and management programs namely from the Business School of Wharton University in Pennsylvania, USA.